

The College Band

The College Band continues to stand as a symbol of discipline, dedication, and coordination. Every performance reflects the sincere effort, regular practice, and unwavering commitment of its members, who work tirelessly to achieve precision and excellence.

Training is conducted under the expert guidance of Mr. Matthew D'Silva, whose leadership and expertise have shaped the Band into a disciplined and efficient unit. Regular practice sessions are held to improve rhythm, marching skills, and synchronisation. Even during holidays and on important occasions, the members willingly devote their time to ensure the smooth conduct of major school events.

All instruments are carefully maintained and systematically stored in the Band Room after every practice session. The Band also benefits from the valuable guidance of Mr. Raju Solomon and Captain A. B. Singh, whose experience continues to strengthen its discipline and musical standards. We are also grateful to Mr. V. McGowan and Mr. Joy Peter for their constant encouragement and support.

An important contribution to the Band's smooth functioning comes from its support team. The digital documentation and technical coordination are efficiently managed by Tej Krishna Srivastava and Ritik Raj Verma, ensuring the effective handling of records, announcements, and other technical responsibilities. Our Section Commander, Siddharth Kumar, plays a vital role in supervising drills, mentoring younger members, and maintaining discipline during practice sessions.

Throughout the academic year, the Band performed a wide repertoire of Western and Indian tunes, including Bells of Scotland, Marching Soldiers, Sare Jahan Se Achchha, Indian General Salute, VIP Call, and Abide With Me.

Each member is entrusted with specific responsibilities by the Band Captain, Kshitij Agrawal, enabling the Band to function with unity, discipline, and efficiency. The Band Manager oversees the organisation of practice sessions, while senior members guide the juniors in mastering their instruments and perfecting marching techniques. Together, we work as one cohesive unit, striving for excellence in every performance.

It is a matter of immense pride and honour for the College Band to lead school ceremonies and render ceremonial salutes to the Chief Guest during major functions. Every march and every note reflect our unwavering spirit of discipline, teamwork, and service to our Alma Mater.

Our commitment is best expressed through our guiding lines:

"We salute today, to get saluted tomorrow."

"We march with pride—not for fame, but for the spirit of togetherness."
